1. The Fine Arts Commission received thirty responses to the call for membership applicants. A selection committee reviewed the credentials of the thirty and selected eight "finalists" for personal interviews. The interviews, held during the week of September 13, were conducted by myself, [REDACTED] on behalf of the FAC.

2. After careful consideration of the qualifications and motivations of the eight finalists, we have selected five that best fit the needs of the Commission. Their names, components, and areas of expertise are at annex.

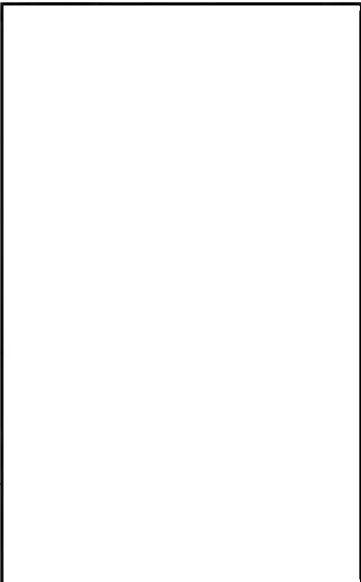

3. I recommend that you appoint all five to the Commission. They will bring our membership to fourteen and will add to our ranks significant new and relevant expertise. In view of the planned increase in FAC activities and the inevitable absentee rate, I do not believe that fourteen is too large a number.

4. I am in the process of writing letters of appreciation to everyone that responded to our call for applicants. They included a remarkable array of talents and interests. STATINTL
